Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-8 and 30-36, drawn to an electrical contact structure, classified in class 324, subclass 757.
- II. Claims 9-29, drawn to a tip structure, classified in class 324, subclass 757.
- III. Claims 37-45, drawn to a method of making an electrical contact structure, classified in class 29, subclass 825.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions III in a first set and I and II in a second set are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the probe tip of Figures 2D and 9B can be made by grinding or milling and do not appear to possibly be able to result from the method of Invention III.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

If one Inventions I or II is elected further election of species is required as follows:

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

1. The species where the blade is substantially parallel to the motion of the horizontal motion.
2. The species where the blade is up to 45 degrees displaced from parallel to the motion of the horizontal motion.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

With the election of one of the above species further election of subspecies is required as follows: (Read "species" as "subspecies".)

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

1. The subspecies where the blade is mounted on a foot.
2. The subspecies where the blade is mounted at the end of the spring contact element as in Figures 2D and 9B.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

With the election of one of the above subspecies further election of subspecies if required as follows: (Read "species" as "subspecies".)

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

1. The subspecies of Figures 2A-2C.
2. The subspecies of Figure 2D.
3. The subspecies of Figure 5D.
4. The subspecies of Figure 5E-5H.
5. The subspecies of Figure 6A.
6. The subspecies of Figure 6B.
7. The subspecies of Figure 7A.
8. The subspecies of Figure 7B.
9. The subspecies of Figure 7C.
10. The subspecies of Figure 8A-8B.
11. The subspecies of Figure 9A.
12. The subspecies of Figure 9B.
13. The subspecies of Figure 10.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
